Adm'r.

Who, who would live, my Narva, just to breathe
This idle air, and indolently run,
Day after day, the still returning round
Of life's mean offices, and fickle joys?
But in the service of mankind to be
A guardian God below—still to employ
The mind's brave ardour in heroic aims,
Such as may raise us over the grovelling herd,
And make us think forever—that is life.

THOMPSON.

IT is an observation of Mr. Addison, that, "there are none, who deserve superiority over others in the esteem of mankind, who do not make it their endeavor to be beneficial to society; and who, upon all occasions, which their circumstances of life can administer, do not take a certain unfeigned pleasure in conferring benefits of one kind or another."

It was not my chance to be born on a spot of earth that was very much illumined with the rays of science; neither were my parents very much dandled and caressed by Madam Fortune; however it has always been a determination of theirs to appropriate a certain part of time for the improvement of my intellects, together with those of my brothers and sisters; and it was ever a resolution of my mother never to interrupt a child when reading a useful book, to attend to the secular concerns of life.

It is not in my power to add greatly to the sum of human felicity by way of any pecuniary considerations in relieving the wants of the poor and distressed; yet I shall always consider it a duty, which I owe myself and my fellow-creatures to convert the bitter dregs of pain to the sweets of pleasure, and proffer the healing potion, wherever it can be done without unreasonable detriment to myself, or those to whom I am more nearly connected by the ties of consanguinity. And whenever any society, or set of people, particularly the afflicted and defenceless can be relieved by any advice, or friendly caution, which I can give, shall never be withheld, but bestowed with my most cordial regards.

My design in offering to the public the few little essays to which my sign is affixed, proceeded from an intention of doing good, serving my generation with faithfulness, and of strewn the paths of life with a few purple flowers. Much profundity of erudition, my readers cannot expect will be discovered in my lucubrations;—or that the products of my pen will breathe with Common Sense in Disguise, with the beauties of a LAY PREACHER, or with the refined sentiments of a venerable NEIGHBOR; yet they may be assured that they flow from a good heart.

It is to be hoped, that offence never will be taken by either sex, should I inadvertently, now and then, on the extravagance of the taste, or the follies to which we are all prone. Whenever I speak of the various for ms of commodities, tuckers, patchings, paintings, relaxation and exposure, I will not, in future, pretend to dictate, but only propose amendments.—And I flatter myself that I am in so high repute among my female friends and acquaintance in this part of the country, should I tell them a woollen dress was warmer in the winter season than calico or white muslin, they would believe me. What if I should tell the young gentlemen that a ring on some of their fingers did not look so well as on a lady's, and that puddings in the summer were not so commodious as in the season when Boreas skins o'er the fields, and heaps the snow? What if I say, that a gold necklace, that is worn as a medicine to prevent swelling, will loose its efficacy, should it be worn over a large cravat? I conclude this essay by returning a tribute of gratitude to my correspondents for their late epistles, requesting a continuance of their favors; and wishing that we might all be "faithful in our day," and rise superior to the grovelling herd.

LEANDER.

A description of the sepulchres of Thebes, from a late and interesting work.

THE whole of the mountain Libycus, which begins at half a league to the W. of the Memnonium, and ends immediately opposite to Medinet-abou, is pierced from its base to three fourths of its elevation with a great number of sepulchral grottos. Those which are nearest the surface of the ground are the most spacious, as well as the most decorated; those which are in the most elevated part of the mountain, are much more rudely contrived and executed; while such as hold the middle place, bear an adjusted proportion of space and ornament. Those which belong to the poor are the most interesting, because they always contain some representation of the arts which flourished, and the trades which were practised, at that epocha. The plan of these grottos is in a great measure the same. A door, opening towards the east, displays a gallery of about twenty feet in length, which is sometimes formed in a straight line, and at other times runs off from the entrance in a right angle; it is indifferently supported by columns or pilasters, of which the number varies from four to ten. At the extremity of the gallery is a well which leads to the catacombs, where the mummies are deposited. The depth of these wells varies from forty to sixty feet, and they are connected with long subterraneous passages, rudely shaped in the rock, which terminate in a chamber of about thirty feet square; whose sides are supported by pilasters, and contain large remains of the mummies. There are evident traces of numerous other subterraneous communications, which probably lead to other chambers, that are at present concealed.

In the upper gallery are sculptured in bas-relievo, or painted in fresco, a crowd of subjects relating to funeral ceremonies. The most interesting pictures which are seen there, offer a detail of circumstances, connected with the ancient inhabitants of the country. There are represented their first occupations, such as the chase and the fishery; thence we may trace the progress of civilization, in the employments of the faddler, the cart-right, the porter, the money-changer, the husbandman, and in the duties and punishments of military life. Each grotto is adorned with a ceiling painted with subjects of fancy, and whose design is exactly the same as that of the paperhangings which were fashionable in France about thirty years ago.

The tombs of the kings are about six thousand four hundred paces from the river. They have been formed in a narrow valley, in the centre of the mountain Libycus. The ancient way thither is not known, and the spot is now gained by an artificial passage. These sepulchres occupy a large ravine, which is flanked by the bed of a torrent. The plan of one of these tombs will be sufficient to explain the general disposition of the rest.

Every grotto communicates with the valley by a large gate, which opens to the gallery hollowed in the rock; its breadth and height are generally about 12 feet, and its length is twenty paces to the second gate, which opens to another gallery of the same breadth, and 24 feet in length. To the right and left of this gallery are chambers of five feet in breadth and ten feet long. There are found paintings of arms; such as hatchets, poniards, curved sabres, straight swords, lances, javelins, bows, arrows, quivers, coats of mail, shields, implements of husbandry, vases, and trinkets of every kind. The detail of preparing food is also represented.

It is one of those chambers where we saw the two harps which had been copied by Bruce. A third gallery succeeds, of the same dimensions as the former, and leads to a chamber above the level of the other apartments, which is eighteen feet square. From this chamber is the entrance to a gallery of thirty-four paces in length; there is also an inclining gallery, whose length is twenty-eight paces. At its extremity is a corridor of sixteen paces, leading to a chamber of eleven paces square, which is connected with another of the same size by a gallery of six paces. A square saloon then succeeds, supported by eight pillars; its length is twenty paces, and its breadth twenty. Here is the sarcophagus which contained the mummy of the king. The Romans made some attempts to carry away this sarcophagus from the grotto where it is deposited, they had even tried to level the ground, in order to facilitate its removal; but they very soon renounced the impracticable enterprise.

To the saloon of the sarcophagus, another apartment succeeds, of twenty-five paces in breadth, and forty in length.—The height of the tomb is seven feet, its length eight, and its breadth six; the total length of the gallery is two hundred and forty-five paces. The tombs of the kings throughout their whole extent are covered with pictures and hieroglyphics; but the greater part are painted in fresco, and represent the most fantastic subjects that can be conceived. There it was that the Romans caught that idea of the grotesque, which formed the principle subject of their composition during the second and third age of the empire. The researches into Herculeum have discovered a great number of paintings executed in a similar taste.

One of the most interesting of these grottos contains a sarcophagus that is still entire and in its place. Its length is sixteen feet, its height twelve, and its breadth six. It still preserves the lid, adorned with the effigy of the king, which is a single block of granite. The astonishment that is felt, on reflecting that this enormous mass was transported to the extremity of a subterraneous passage two hundred paces in length, exceeds all bounds, when it is considered that it was worked upon the place where it remains. What difficulties must have been surmounted, in order to transport a weight of so many hundred milliers, across the almost impracticable roads of the mountain.

Human sacrifices are continually represented.

By the Last Mails.

Late Foreign Intelligence.

Received per the ship Planter, capt. Corran, arrived in Hampton Roads, from London, bound to City Point.

LONDON, September 7.

The Mondovi sloop from Egypt, arrived at Portsmouth yesterday. It brought over major Montefor, the bearer of the official dispatches announcing the fall of Cairo. The Hebe frigate has also arrived at Portsmouth with wounded and invalids. We do not learn that she has brought any more recent intelligence, but that the capitulation of Alexandria was daily expected.

By the Eling schooner, which has arrived at Plymouth with dispatches from Gibraltar, we learn, that in the beginning of last month, sir John B. Warren, with part of his squadron, had joined sir James Saumarez, who on the 16th ult. remained cruising off Cadiz. The Spanish prize the San Antonio, had been nearly refitted at Gibraltar, and was soon to join the British admiral.

The Hamburg mail due on the 30th ult. arrived yesterday. The letters which it brings us from Constantinople, are of the same date as those contained in the French papers, but are more explicit. Amid all the details, however, which they give us respecting Egypt, we find but one important and new fact, which is, that on the 24th of July intelligence had been received of the convention of Cairo having been carried into execution on the 10th of that month. In conformity with the tenor of it, the French garrison had been escorted to Rosetta. Transports had, it appears, been sent from Constantinople, in order to transport it to France. Great rejoicings had taken place in that capital, and rich presents have been made to Lord Elgin, and to the members of his legation.

The French envoy, Champagne, was expected at Vienna, according to a letter from that capital of the 25th July, in the course of a few days, with a numerous retinue. The Spanish ambassador had repeated his request at the court of Vienna, for the recognition of the king of Etruria, but had not received a more satisfactory answer than upon the former occasion. The Grand Duke of Tuscany had arrived from Gratz. Nothing is yet stated respecting the great question which now occupies the principal cabinets of Germany, and the solution of which will so materially affect their political destiny.

September 8.

Captain Barton, of his majesty's ship Concorde, is appointed governor of Newfoundland, in consequence of no admiral going this season on that station.

Mr. Charles Pinckney, the new American ambassador to the court of Spain, arrived some days ago, off the coast of Sussex, in the Fox, which vessel being bound to the port of London, he shifted his baggage on board another vessel bound to Hamburg, whither he is gone on his way to Madrid.

September 9.

This morning a messenger arrived from Peterburgh, with the ratification of the treaty concluded between Russia and this country. The intelligence which he brings in other respects, is very satisfactory.

Both the Hamburg Mail due on Sunday last, and that which became due to day, arrived this morning. The Vienna article of the 22d, states the arrival of several ships from Civita Vecchia and Trieste, which gave an account of general Menou having surrendered by capitulation to the Turks and English. An article from the same capital, of the 26th does not, however, give us much reason to believe that the above account is correct.

At a late hour this forenoon we received, by express, Paris papers to the 7th inst. From them we extract the following articles:

At the audience of the ambassadors on the 3d inst. count Philip Cobenzel, ambassador from his Imperial and Royal Apostolic Majesty, was presented to the Chief Consul, and delivered to him his letters of credence.

The Spanish ambassador presented the chevalier de Mormandi, envoy extraordinary of his Catholic majesty.

The Ciel du Cabinet of the 4th inst. contains the following article: "Mr. Paget, who succeeds lord Minto in his embassy at Vienna, has arrived at Paris. His passage through France gives reason to suppose that he is also charged with some commission to our government."

ARSENDE,

(In the department of Scheldt,) August 29.

The day before yesterday an English squadron, consisting of 10 frigates and some corvettes & cutters, anchored in the Deurlo, the Straits which leads from the North Sea to Flushing. This appearance gave us great uneasiness, and the news received from Flushing has doubled our vigilance on the coast. There was, however, yesterday morning no signs left of the English. They had sailed away. Besides the armed force in the island, the general has sent six hundred men more, who were cantoned in the neighbourhood. His troops are well prepared to repulse all attacks.—All our brave men are animated with an ardent desire of coming to action with the English.

BRUSSELS, August 28.

The greater part of the troops which were in garrison at Valenciennes, Maubeuge, Arras, Lille, Douay, and Saint Omer, are now in their march for the camp of Boulogne, and the vicinity of Dunkirk. A great train of artillery from Douay, and two large transports of bombs, furnaces, balls, and other ammunition, are following it. Different companies of artillery-men are on their way for the camp at Boulogne. Should Nelson again appear before that port, he will meet with a very warm reception. Every thing is now in readiness on the coast of Picardy, for the embarkation of a great number of troops, which will probably take place in the night. The circumstances of the expedition are kept very secret. The Adjutants of the first consul, and some confidential persons, visit the ports, and give the necessary orders. Between Boulogne and Dunkirk there are now assembled 25,000 troops. There are here nine battalions of troops, which are destined to serve on board the flotilla.

September 1.

The letters from the frontiers of Westphalia state, that the contracts for furnishing the necessary subsistence to the Prussian troops under the command of general Kleist, which occupy the Electorate of Hanover, have been again renewed, which proves evidently that this country is not on the point of being evacuated, and will not be so until the affair of the indemnities is settled. It is again reported in the Prussian states, that some regiments are on the point of abandoning their present positions on the Ems, and on the frontiers of Hanover, in order to take possession of the Bishoprick of Munster. We learn by the same accounts, that the king of Prussia will repair to the principalities of Franconia and Westphalia, in the course of Sept. in order to be present at the autumnal reviews in those provinces.

The articles from all parts of the northern coast of France, are filled with an account of the apprehensions excited in the inhabitants by the occasional appearance of English vessels.

The French Tiers Consolide, which had on the 2d declined to 46, have risen again to 48 nearly.

At the moment when the great question of the indemnities, or what is the same thing, of the secularizations, was engaging the attention of Germany, the death of the Elector of Cologne has proved an event highly important to the two courts of Vienna and Berlin, but as disadvantageous to the former, as favorable to the latter.—Prussia has long coveted the territory of Cologne, and still more the Bishoprick of Munster, which separated the Prussian states in Westphalia from one another.—The chapters of the three Ecclesiastical Electorates, have at all times been devoted to the house of Austria, which they considered as the natural support of the Catho-

DOVER, September 6.

A flag of truce arrived yesterday morning from Calais with dispatches from M. Otto and other dispatches having just at the same time came down express from London for Mr. Merry at Paris, the boat returned with them immediately to Calais. An open boat, as a flag of truce, arrived here from Calais yesterday with dispatches from Mr. Merry, and brought Mr. Dawson passenger.—He is a Member of the Congress of the United States of America, who has been over to settle the treaty between the two Powers.

MALTA, July 23.

On the 11th inst. an English frigate arrived here from Egypt, with a French general, and some French officers and soldiers; and yesterday five other English ships came in with French troops on board, whom they were carrying back to France. From these ships we learn, that the garrison of Alexandria had made a sally, with a view to clear the canal of the Nile, and procure water. They were, however, attacked on two sides by the Turks and English, who took 700 prisoners.

NEW-YORK, October 31.

Arrived, sch'r Polly, Mitchell, Porto Rico.

Cleared, ship Fox, Lincoln, Cape Francois; brig Elizabeth, Williams, Laguerre; brig Sally Gardner, Greenock; sch'r Rambler, Tyler, West Indies; Ann, Wildridge, New Orleans; Louisa Bridger, Eve, Bermuda; Commerce, Wright, Digby; Eleier, Sill, Senegal; brig Orion, from Jamaica, is below.

Sch'r Polly, capt. Peter Mitchell, from Porto Rico. Came passenger, capt. G. Greenough, who left New-York on the 14th August, in the ship Zenobia, Thomas Howard, master, bound to Hamburg, and was taken on the 17th by a privateer schooner from Porto Rico, which shewed 16 guns, carrying 10 tons and fixes, and one long nine pounder, under Spanish colors; she had a flag captain, but was commanded and hailed by a French crew. They took every man out of the ship except the captain, whom they abused very much. They robbed the ship of her stores, and the people of their clothes; and, when on board the privateer, used them in the most distressing manner, and seldom allowed them to come upon deck: they were fed upon one salt herring, and 1½ pints of water for 24 hours. On the 31st August, fell in with, and captured a Portuguese brig from the Brazils, bound to Lisbon, and on that day parted with the ship Zenobia. The privateer with the brig arrived at Porto Rico on the 16th Sept. Capt. Greenough left Porto Rico on the 27th, and at that time they had received no information respecting the ship, but rather supposed she was re-taken.—The Americans there are abused, ill-used and condemned. Flour 14 dollars per barrel, and none now admitted.

Sch'r Sincerity, Toulmin, from Porto Rico, in lat. 37, long. 74, spoke brig Rose, Pratt, from St. Thomas bound to New-York.—Left there sch'r Jane, of N. York, to fail in 8 days; brig Maria, Catlin, of Charleston, brig Favorite, Darham of Norfolk; and sch'r Mohawk, Cruget, of Baltimore bound to Havana.

Ship Nancy, Russel, from the Ile of May, on the 13th of Sep. spoke the ship Resolution, Orney, from Boston, bound to South America; lat. 13, 5; N. Oct. 12, spoke a sch'r, Capt. Richardson, from Guadalupe to Boston, lat. 29, 30, long. 38, 40, out 7 days. 14th spoke brig Flying Fish, Sutter, from Charleston, to Cape de Verdes, lat. 31, N. long. 69. 15th spoke a sch'r of Gloucester, from Philadelphia to Hispaniola, lat. 31, 31, long. 70, 59. 21st, spoke a sch'r, capt. Wells, from Baltimore to the Havana. 23d, spoke the sch'r Perseverance, Crawford, from Turk's Island, to Boston, lat. 37, 8. 24th, spoke the Washington Packet, from New-York, to Baltimore, lat. 37, 45.

The brig Venus, from Savannah, is come up from the quarantine ground, where she has been laying some time.

PHILADELPHIA, November 2.

Arrived, ship Harry, Boyd, Lisbon; sch'r's Fox, Jefferys, Tortola, via Wilmington; Fancy, Hammond, Nassau; America, Buck, Boston.

Cleared, Ship Hope, Dawson, Liverpool; brigs Clarissa, Hunt, Cape Francois; Triton, Howland, Bristol; Sch'r Fanny, Dunn, New-York.

Ship Harry, Boyd, failed from Lisbon, the 26th August, and left there several American vessels, names unknown, none however, belonging to Philadelphia.

On the 3d Sep. off Cadiz, was informed by an officer, belonging to a fleet of ten sail of the line, besides frigates, under the command of Sir James Sumatez, that no neutral vessels were permitted to enter either the port of Cadiz, or St. Lucars.

Capt. Boyd spoke on the 10th of Oct. in lat. 28, N. long. 70, W. the brig William, from Norfolk, and sch'r Three Sisters, Comr, from St. Thomas, to Boston.

Capt. Hammond, of the sch'r Fancy, left at Nassau a number of American vessels, some under adjudication, and some as traders. Among them are the following:—Barque Atlantic, Newhall, from Philadelphia, a trader; brig Lovely Lucy, Davidson, of Philadelphia, under trial; sch'r Eldridge, of Philadelphia, for examination; sloop Ruby, Searcott, of and for New-York, a trader.

NORFOLK, Oct. 31.

Extra of a letter from a gentleman in Port Republic, to his friend in this Borough, dated 27th September.

"The infatuation of the government is an objection to doing business in this island; new constitutions and arrests are frequent. This day it is proclaimed that there shall be no more Decades, and that the old order of the calendar shall be restored. I mention this as an evidence of the versatility of the administration; none or very few of the officers are paid by government, and are open to bribery; in this way only, if you have business to transact, can you rely on its completion with facility. Touissant's death, which his ill health induces a belief will shortly happen, will inevitably throw the whole island into commotion, as there are several candidates whose pretensions will be supported by the sword."

By the schooner Parke Farley, arrived yesterday from Antigua, we learn, that they are in hourly expectation of 5000 troops from England, for the avowed purpose of attacking the Island of Guadalupe.

An Antigua paper received by the above vessel, also mentions the arrival of a vessel at Martinique, direct from Gibraltar: letters by her from officers under the command of Gen. Hutchinson, state the unlimited surrender of Alexandria, and the capture of two French and one Spanish line of battle ships, several frigates, transports, store-ships, bomb-ketches and other vessels.

Arrived on Thursday morning in Hampton Roads, the ship Planter, Corran, from London, bound to City-Point. Left there the ship Alexander, Geary, to fail for this port in 8 days. Spoke off Scilly the ship Merchant, from Norfolk to London. Oct. 20th, in lat. 37, long. 50, spoke the ship Sally, from Baltimore to Lisbon, out 15 days.

Arrived yesterday, the schooner Betsey, Fellows, from Demarara. Oct. 16th in lat. 22, 4, long. 95, 3, spoke the brig Commerce, out 5 days from Guadalupe for Rhode-Island. The sch'r Carquet, Lovell, failed several days before, for this port.—Left there, ship Minerva, Hopkins, Pepperelboro'; the brigs Betsey, Lowell, Portsmouth, N. H. Olive, Stoutly, do. Hitty, Pettit, do. Conclusion, Cown, Penobscot; sch'r's Sally, Stone, Kennebunk; Betsey, —, Boston; Recovery, Sear, N. York; Polly, Coffin, from Teneriffe.

Arrived yesterday, the schooner Parke Farley, Anderson, from Antigua. Left there, the brig Alert, Webb, to fail the 28th inst. and the brig Martin, Baker, in three weeks, both for this port.

Alexandria Advertiser.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5.

Extra of a letter from captain Barron, commander of the United States ship Philadelphia, dated off Gibraltar, August 21, 1801.

"I received a few days past, a letter from a number of American masters who had been captured and carried into the Spanish port of Algeiras, under pretence of entering a blockaded port, in which state they have declared Gibraltar, altho' they have only a few gun-boats, which occasionally attacks the vessels in the bay, and capture defenceless neutrals. On receipt of their letter, I sent a boat on shore, with a letter to the commander of the vessels (who resides on shore) representing that the Americans knew not of the blockade of Gibraltar—consequently could not be subject to seizure, and that their object, generally, in going to that port was to gain information (or convoy) to protect them against the Tripolines.

"I also directed the officer charged with this business, to make enquiry respecting the convenience of watering and obtaining refreshments; procuring those articles at Barbary is inconvenient, and attended with danger. The letter was replied to by the judge of the admiralty, (a translation I have not yet been able to complete, consequently cannot enclose it) but the substance is, that the causes now depending should be attended to impartially, and that no vessels had been condemned that had not on board goods consigned to Gibraltar. He would lay before the king my letter respecting the purpose for which the Americans were generally going to Gibraltar."

ERROR CORRECTED.

A Philadelphia print states the dismissal of John Newman from the place of Chief Clerk to the War Department, and the appointment of Presly Carr Lane to succeed him. The facts are, that Mr. Newman, actuated by the expectation, of improving his situation, some time since intimated to the Secretary of War his desire to retire from his place, offering, however, to remain in it until a fit successor should be obtained. The secretary, on this intimation, addressed a letter to Mr. Newman, expressing his esteem for him, and his regret at parting with him; and it is but justice to Mr. Newman to say, that the secretary of War has uniformly respected his capacity, fidelity and industry in his discharge of duty.

Extra of a letter from New-Orleans, dated on board the Thomas Wilson, September 11.

"A disorder is at present raging in this place resembling the yellow fever. Americans and new comers, are the general victims to it. I have at present all my hands sick on shore, the greater part of whom I fear, will not recover."

Mr. C. P. WAYNE has relinquished "The Gazette of the United States" to Mr. ENOS BRONSON, by whom it will be hereafter published.

The talents of this Gentleman qualify him, in an eminent degree, for the management of a daily paper.

On the 7th of September Mr. Pinckney shifted his baggage from an English vessel, on board of which he then was, off the coast of England, to a vessel bound to Hamburg, whence he goes to Madrid.

The Subscriber will SELL

OR

EXCHANGE for approved land near the Blue-Ridge,

A valuable Tract of Land in Northumberland county, two miles from the court-house, and near the bank of the Potomac, containing 1163 acres.

This tract is divided into two plantations, on the one there is a brick dwelling house 50 by 33 feet conveniently divided, and two brick offices, 24 by 16 feet. A framed house 20 by 16 feet designed for an overseer, and other out houses.

The conveniences of this place are equalled by few, and the prospect excelled by none in the state. The house is situated on a high hill and commands an extensive view of the Potomac and the Chesapeake bay. There is a creek abounding with the finest fish and oysters, which terminates the flat land of this tract, that is navigable for bay craft, and affords an excellent landing place within half a mile of the house. On this part of the tract there is an excellent bearing apple and peach orchard, and a variety of other fruit trees. It has a great sufficiency of oak and hickory timber, for the use of the plantation, besides a large quantity of pine.

On the other plantation there is a frame dwelling house 32 by 15 feet, and a few out houses, such as tenants generally have about them. This part of the tract is as well situated for farming as any lands in Virginia. It is well watered, has a sufficiency of timber for its support, and flourishing young peach and apple orchards.

As it is presumable that no person will make such a purchase without viewing the premises, all that is necessary to add is that Mr. Spencer Ball, living thereon, will shew the whole, and is fully authorized to make sale thereof.

JAMES V. BALL.

N. B. Any person purchasing may be supplied with stock of all kinds necessary and sufficient for the plantation.
